WATCHFUL EYE

John Scafiro guides the paramedic van alongside the Silva's ambulance taking auto accident victim to the hospital.

"The enclosed procedures and policies cannot, nor are they expected to provide a solution to every question or situation which may arise . . . They are not designed to limit any person in the exercise of his judgment or initiative in taking the action a reasonable person would take in extraordinary situations."

—From the South San Francisco Fire Department Paramedic Policies and Procedures—

By BOB PETERSEN

"RESCUE ONE. 11-41. Orange and Grand."

The information coming over the South San Francisco Fire Department Intercom was quickly deciphered. John Scafiro and Terro, drinking coffee, sprang to their feet.

Outside the door was a yellow van. John jumped into the driver's seat, unlugging a battery rejuvenerating electrical cord in a singular motion.

Joe had fastened his seat belt. He picked up the radio microphone. "This is Rescue One. 10-8," he said, as the siren blared and the mobile intensive care unit sped north on Baden Avenue.

These South San Francisco firemen are not your average rescue team. While all firemen and ambulance personnel responding to an emergency have knowledge and the capability of providing advanced first aid, resuscitation and cardiopulmonary resuscitation, these two are additionally trained and skilled paramedics. They bring the hospital's emergency room to the scene of an incident.

At Orange and Grand Avenues, three cars were involved in a rear-end accident. A local woman, Virginia King, driving the center car, was stiffly clinging to the steering wheel. She held her head and neck rigidly forward, as if fearing any motion might cause something to shatter.

Joe rushed to her side. He cautiously unbuttoned her coat, asking her pertinent questions, taking her pulse and checking for other possible injuries. The woman appeared in pain.

JOHN, MEANWHILE, set up a radio phone contact with Kaiser Hospital. "Kaiser. This is Rescue One."

Standby. With the phone cradled between his chin and left shoulder, John begins jotting information on a report sheet. Joe is applying a neck brace to the patient, who has not moved a muscle.

"She's afraid to move," comments Joe over his shoulder to John. "She has a bruised right knee, but there are no other signs of injury. He adds as he passes on other statistical information.

John talks into the phone. "Female, 31. Auto accident. Pain at base of neck. Patient holding herself in traction. We've put on a cervical collar. Vitals stable. She's conscious and coherent. Skin normal. No other signs of injury."

The response comes back to place the patient on a back board and transport her to Mary's Help Hospital, Daly City, where her doctor is located. Moments later, an ambulance arrives.

Standing on the curb beside the van was South San Francisco Mary Gatto. "I think they're fast," said the woman, a friend of the accident victim and once a pharmacist mate in the West. This set up between

Tight DC Jail Security

Zebra Witness Guarded

By FRANK LAPIERRE

Daly City police are breathing a lot easier today following release of "Eugene Anderson" from their jail last week.

The Post learned "Anderson" is in reality Michael Armstrong, a key witness in the Zebra murder trial now underway in San Francisco.

According to testimony, Armstrong supplied a .32 caliber handgun to the defendants in the case which was allegedly used in at least one slaying.

Armstrong had been in protective custody — at the Daly City facility since Feb. 11, jail manager Harry Smith said.

For almost four months Armstrong was at the jail. He was assigned trusty status and helped clean up the facility, Smith said.

"He wasn't a bad inmate, considering the amount of time he spent here," Smith said. "We kept him busy to occupy his time."

But tension was extremely high around the jail and inside the police department itself. Persons not wearing special identification tags were not allowed beyond the police department's front desk.

Video cameras monitored Armstrong's every move for his own safety.

"If something happened to Armstrong it probably would not have blown the (prosecutor's) case, but it sure would not have helped it," Smith said.

Jail guards knew who their charge was, and they were cautioned to be watchful for any suspicious activities at the facility.

Armstrong is an ex-convict who served time at San Quentin. He is still on probation in Marin County, it was learned.

Occasionally, Armstrong was taken out to meals, but most of his time was spent inside the building.

To his jailers, Armstrong was a "fairly decent sort," who gave them little trouble. "Our job was to make sure no one could get at Armstrong. He knew someone might try to kill him if he was out on the street. Therefore, he adapted himself to the routine here," Smith said.

On May 5 and 6, Armstrong testified for the prosecution against the accused Zebra slayers.

With that testimony completed he was released from protective custody May 8.

Colma Bakery Hit by DA

A civil complaint asking for an injunction against a Colma bakery charging they are operating under unsanitary conditions was filed by the district attorney's office in Redwood City Monday, it was reported.

The complaint filed by Deputy Dist. Atty. Charles C. Pierpoint against Franco Francisco, Inc., of 31 San Pedro Road, charges the company with unfair competition as the result of two investigations by the Food and Drug Section of the State Department of Health.

The suit alleges that a sanitary inspection on Jan. 9, 1974, found the following violations in the bakery, which bakes French bread and rolls.

- The walls of the bakery were unclean.
- Means were not provided to prevent the entrance of insects and rodents.
- The food was manufactured under unsanitary conditions and that some of the flour showed evidence of rodent droppings.

Although no action was taken against the bakery after the first inspection, Pierpoint declared that a second inspection on Jan. 30, 1975, showed conditions had deteriorated.

Additional charges were that the fixtures and other equipment in the bakery were not clean nor in a sanitary condition and that food ingredients were improperly stored.

The suit, which names Charlotte Giusepini as president of the corporation and George Nutting as production supervisor, asks an injunction and $2,500 in civil penalties "for each unlawful, unfair or fraudulent business practice."

SM County Pathologists Defend Autopsy Procedures

By JOHN CURRY

Surprised, even a little stunned, at criticism of their autopsy procedures, several pathologists and a funeral director have answered charges that at least some autopsies in this county are badly executed carrying jobs done under false pretenses.

Autopsies done in San Mateo County hospitals get high marks for their orderliness, according to the Mills Hospital pathologist, Dr. C. Robert Campbell, Dr. Edward Tueller, a pathologist at Peninsula Hospital, and Gene C. Taylor, executive director of the San Mateo County Medical Society, agreed.

A mortician in San Mateo County had complained recently about the state of bodies as received at his funeral home and the upset of some families at the condition of the remains.

But, he and several other funeral directors said at the time, most of the complaints were directed at the teaching institutions — in this area, they are Stanford Medical Center and the Veterans Administration hospitals.

They also pointed out that their major concern was for the peace of mind of the families of the deceased, some of whom they said had claimed that they had been told one thing when autopsy permission was asked by the pathologists, and then something else actually was done. Usually, more organs were taken from the body than had been thought.

Although stressing the need for spare body parts for others, to find causes of death and perhaps save others, and for more knowledge in the medical field, Campbell insists that "a complete autopsy isn't a mutilating procedure" and that "bodies are treated with respect."

One funeral director was quick to back up that point Jack W. Bowlds, owner of the San Bruno Funeral Home in San Bruno, said some Kaiser Hospital and private physicians actually do their autopsies at his establishment. "I think the dignity of man is as respected in the autopsy room as anywhere else," he said.

Campbell also said he felt that complaints about the pathology — the medical term for examination of a body — from a mortician should go to the pathologist and not in a general appeal to the public as was made in the Post story. "It demeans a whole," Campbell said.

Bowlds suggested, however, that "some doctors aren't quite as truthful as they should be" about why an autopsy is needed.

Much of the original problem, as the complaining mortician had explained it, was in the autopsy consent form, which in many places gives a pathologist "carte blanche" permission to take what he wants from a body unless the family specifies on its own what is to be done.

Relatives, despite their grief at the time, should read and be familiar with the autopsy consent form and be clear on what they want done with the remains, all have agreed.

Could they do this, the chances are that mortician complaints about mutilated bodies that are difficult to prepare cosmetically for a funeral casket, and the medical profession's needs for body parts and research could be resolved at the same time, all concerned say.

Bowlds also took issue with the morticians' heard from earlier, saying the condition of bodies delivered to him weren't really in bad condition. "The only time we complain is when we don't have the carotid arteries and we can't profuse the tissue," Bowlds said.

Strike Threat In SSF

Teachers in the South San Francisco Unified School District will take a possible strike vote this Thursday at 3:30 p.m.

The issue to be voted on is a contract for 1975-76. If the teachers vote to reject the district's latest offer, a strike will be called for this Friday morning.

A spokesman for the teachers said Tuesday that the teachers want a 7 per cent cost-of-living salary boost. The district has offered a 3 per cent raise, including step increases. The teachers do not consider step increases to be part of any cost-of-living adjustment.

There are nearly 14,000 students in the district, located at 22 schools, kindergarten through grade 12. It is the largest such district in San Mateo County. There are 649 teachers in the district.

Thursday's meeting will be held at a union hall at 208 Miller Ave.

Nearly 300 of them packed a meeting of the district's board of trustees last Thursday.

The board agreed to reopen negotiations for a four-hour period after budget data are received from an impartial fiscal analyst. A date for those negotiations has not been firmly fixed.

According to Margie Shotton, local president of the California Teachers Association, the teachers are "very far along" with strike preparations.

"We are prepared," she said. She added that the teachers are waiting for some show of "good faith" bargaining from the trustees and their representatives.

Planners OK Rezoning

The Daily City Planning Commission has approved rezoning of a parcel of land adjacent to Freeway 280 and Hickey Boulevard from R-1 (residential) to C-1 (commercial).

George Menzoni, representing the applicant, Le-Jo, Inc., told the Commission a "high quality" restaurant was expected to be constructed on the site.

Located on a bluff overlooking the Winston Manor section of South San Francisco, the site will be landscaped and have a terraced retaining wall to prevent further erosion of the hillside, Menzoni said.

A fence will be built at the top of the hill to prevent headlights from cars using the restaurant to shine into the Winston Manor area, it was explained.

The fence also will act as a deterrent to anyone trying to climb the wall.

Menzoni had brought the matter to the city several months ago. It had been continued.

Don Fleming, acting manager of the city's Department of Community Development, said the staff had recommended approval of the rezoning.

He assured Commissioners and some homeowners in the area that he had protested construction on the site, that adequate safeguards would be taken to prevent any slippage activities there.

Virginia McAdam, secretary to the Winston Manor Homeowners' group, said she had talked to officials at the Fish and Game Department and they had expressed interest in the fact that an "endangered species" lived on the small sliver of property — the San Francisco garter snake.

She did not say who the Fish and Game Department official was.

All information pertaining to the site and its impact on the environment is contained in the Environmental Impact Report filed with the state, a city official said.

Rooms for Foreign Students Needed Here

This year you can visit a foreign country in your own living room.

Sounds like a put on, doesn't it?

Actually, it's an invitation to learn first-hand about another culture — for the price of providing board and room for a month.

It's all part of a package promoted by Interstudy, a unique homestay program of educational and cultural exchange involving foreign students.

Numerous county residents who recently shared their homes with Japanese students can't say enough about the experience.

Mr. and Mrs. David Cory, 800 Maple Ave., Burlingame, agree both sides benefited. "I think we made a very valuable friend," said Mrs. Cory about their house guest Tatsuo Aoyagi. She said her five and seven-year-old children "really got a lot out of it."

Mrs. Frank Gromm, of 2635 Crestmoor Drive, San Bruno, is so involved with the program she intends to take in another student this summer.

George Lynch, area coordinator for the placement of students in homes throughout the county, said he's in the process of finding a place to stay for upwards of 300 youths.

This group, some from France and some from Japan, will be arriving in July and August, said Lynch, who has invited those interested in further information to call him at either 495-3696 or 973-2894.

Mrs. Gromm, meanwhile, echoed what many others have said about the program. "It's just terrific."

"They're so anxious to be part of the family," she said. She housed three Japanese girls on a previous occasion and just had a Japanese boy staying at her home within the past couple of months.

"Their culture is so gentle, and they have such sweet mannerisms," said Mrs.

Gromm. "I enjoyed the girls because I was able to cook with them. They were interested in making American desserts."

Mrs. Gromm, a travel agent, said she's working on a trip to Japan, "so I can visit my kids."

Another San Bruno homestay family was that of city Manager Gerald Minford.

"It was terrific," said Mrs. Minford. "We'd like to do it again. She said their visitor, Masaki Miyano, will eventually be returning to this country on business."

Mrs. Minford said some of the most fun involved in the stay was the time Masaki cooked a meal. She said it was delicious, and they later found out he had never cooked before in his life.

Youths Held After Hot Pursuit, Shooting

Daly City and San Francisco police Saturday night apprehended two 17-year-old youths wanted on rape, kidnaping, robbery and stolen car charges.

San Francisco police said one of the juvenile males was shot in the buttocks after pulling a handgun on officers.

San Francisco authorities said a 16-year-old girl was raped in Colma by each of the suspects after forcing her boyfriend, also 16, out of the car parked at a "Lover's Lane" in McLaren Park, San Francisco.

Police in Daly City said they got involved when Officer Ike Ortiz observed a car similar to the description of one reportedly stolen from McLaren Park.

Ortiz, and later Sgt. Edward Lyons, pursued the vehicle, which entered Interstate 280 at John Daly Boulevard.

The suspect car left the freeway at Geneva St., going into San Francisco, where it was boxed, in at Alworth and Josiah by the Daly City units and an unmarked San Francisco vehicle.

The suspects were apprehended and the rape victim freed.

The juveniles were arrested on rape, kidnaping, stolen car and robbery charges.

San Francisco police said the robbery charge involved the alleged theft of a small amount of change from the rape victim's boyfriend.

SSF Paramedics: 'This Is Rescue One . . .'

them and the hospital saves lives. Let's face it. Every city should have paramedics," said Mrs. Gatto.

That sentiment is often heard. But South San Francisco, so far, is the only San Mateo County city to operate such a unit. Both San Bruno and San Carlos last year entertained thoughts about such programs, but both cities scrapped those ideas mainly because of costs involved.

AT THAT TIME, San Carlos Councilman Joe Judge said, "The paramedics program is a good idea, but it's something the county might be looking at with the aid of the cities." The plan in San Carlos was to have an "area" program to include the cities of Belmont and Redwood City.

San Bruno Fire Chief Herb Freitas said, "Right now we're not really equipped to do a job of saving a life. We are a little better than nothing."

San Bruno councilmen last year adopted a resolution asking that the county evaluate the potential of paramedics in individual cities, or on a county-wide basis, to determine the best and most economical method for providing emergency care.

At that time the chairwoman, Supervisor Jean Fassler, responded in a letter, stating, in effect, the board shares the same life saving concerns, but there are many heavy initial and on-going costs for a paramedic program.

South San Francisco, nonetheless, jumped in with both feet. Actual operations began last March 18.

Since that time, according to Capt. Bill Stridback, head of the 10-man paramedic unit, there have been approximately 150 calls. Stridback, along with Tony Pini and Jack Ehle, started the original feasibility study and pushed the project through.

He said that of those 150 calls, in about 50 cases, the firemen-paramedics were providing definitive medical care, such as intravenous treatment, or setting up for an on-site electrocardiogram. Other responses have been calls for fractures of arms and legs and an occasional case of drug overdose.

"A LOT OF TIMES, nothing goes according to the book," admits John, a 30-year-old South San Franciscan whose father had been a Burlingame fireman. "But there's a feeling of accomplishment when things go good. It's not useless toil."

said the 18-month veteran of the department.

Joe, 34, is a 12-year veteran of the department. And it wouldn't take too much imagination to see the television program "Emergency" paramedics (Gage and DeSoto in John and Joe. It's a program they credit for giving positive publicity for paramedics.

"I know there was more to taking care of people than giving them oxygen," said Joe, an ex-Navy Corpsman, in response to a question of why he volunteered as a paramedic.

Three firemen-paramedics are assigned to each of three platoons. While two perform the paramedic duties, the third serves as a regular fireman. This system is rotated, giving all a chance at all tasks, and making them proficient in each.

The third man on John and Joe's platoon is Pat O'Brien, a boyish looking 28-year-old who spent 2½ years "doing a rescue work" as a Pacifica fireman before joining the South San Francisco department two years ago.

Other firemen-paramedics include Carl (Ed) Hill, Ron Sciandri, Harry (Dave) Anderson, Robert (Jerry) Hollbrook, Jim Mason and Al Meyer.

If there is any inter-departmental jealousy, it doesn't show.

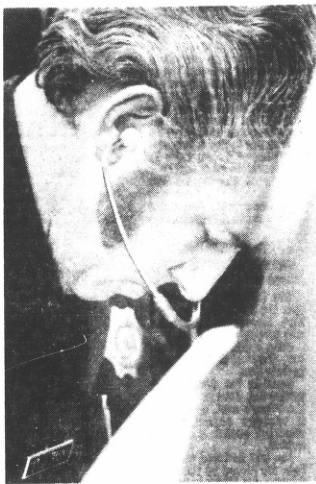

THE KIDS still want to see the fire engine first," said John. "The second thing is to have somebody come down the pole," he adds, in a paramedic is just a fireman with an extra skill.

When it came to establishing the program, most all of the firemen chipped in one way or another. Regular firemen Ron Francesconi and Jim Noonan supplied their own ingenious handiwork toward outfitting the van.

Francesconi, a carpenter for 10 years before joining the department, did all the cabinet work in the specially rigged van. Noonan laid a tile floor in it. John also assisted in the carpentry effort. Utilizing this type of manpower, the $5,000 van is efficiently equipped with some $15,000 to $17,000 in life saving instruments and gear.

The paramedics also drill with the engine companies to keep up their proficiency as firefighters, in addition to maintaining a continuing education program as paramedics. The latter includes work in the emergency room at home-base Kaiser Hospital and special training at Stanford Medical Center.

Joe and John agree it was

the initial studying that was the hardest part of becoming a paramedic.

"I had an eight-week night," said John.

Stanford University Medical School was the education facility that provided the training. It included 200 hours of didactic classroom work, the nuts and bolts of medicine. Clinical experience involved 100 hours in surrounding hospitals. Then came 200 hours of field internship under the supervision of certified mobile intensive care paramedics in the Los Angeles Area.

IT WAS in Los Angeles in 1969 that the California paramedic program was born, both in reality and later on the television screen. That television program is based on the Los Angeles paramedic operations. Joe and John had high praise for their Southern California counterparts.

When Frank Carbonera, 68-year-old hiker, was pulled out of the Veterans Administration Hospital rubble 58 hours after the Sylmar earthquake in Southern California in February of 1971, it was paramedic Rocky Duke who stabilized his condition and cared for him in a helicopter on the way to the hospital.

"From what I've seen, I would be perfectly willing to have any of these men treat any member of my family," said Dr. J. Michael Criley, chief cardiologist at Harbor General Hospital, Carson. Criley helped initiate the Southern California program.

Joe said the school was difficult breathing, overdose, obstetrical, unconscious or stroke patients, or any life threatening medical incident.

PARAMEDICS have become the only non-doctors or non-nurses allowed by state law to administer drugs, do intravenous treatment and electrical counter-shock under a doctor's direction.

"Our job is giving doctors proper information so they in turn can give us proper direction," said Joe. While the firemen-paramedics give the treatment, the ambulance companies under contract to the county are responsible for patient transportation to the three hospitals — Kaiser, Peninsula and Mary's Help — served under the South San Francisco program.

"If we've started intravenous treatment we'll ride with the ambulance," said John. A group of ambulance drivers several years ago also had attempted to promote a paramedic-type operation to upgrade and improve ambulance service.

It was a case of either the county subsidizing the program or the private ambulance companies paying the tab for educating and training their drivers.

When responding to a call, as he headed the van quietly toward Kaiser Hospital on El Camino Real.

"She might have had an allergic reaction," he added in support of his theory that all calls are emergencies, until proven otherwise.

The incident made good small talk at the hospital, where John and Joe, ala Gage and DeSoto of TV's "Emergency" fame, chatted with some members of the hospital staff, for whom they had much praise.

we have to sell ourselves," said Joe. "At first we looked upon as a bunch of quacks. We've got a lot of book knowledge. When we have more practical experience, we'll be a lot better. It's a realistic program."

JOHN ADDS that all calls are important, after word is received that the King woman was x-rayed and released from the hospital.

"And, so far it's 100 per cent free service," he said. While the ambulance was enroute to the hospital with the accident victim, central radio dispatch at the South San Francisco Police Department aired a possible sick call on Duval Drive.

John flipped the siren buttons (it can be manipulated to change pitch of tone to make sure people can hear it) and Joe, map in hand, acted as co-pilot. The yellow van ("you can see it at night," said John) whipped through the streets of San Francisco.

At the home, police and fire units were standing by. Joe and John grabbed their instrument boxes and ran for the house. Moments later came a warning. "Don't come in. It's measles."

"That's a perfect example of an important call that turned out not to be an important call," said John.

When responding to a call, as he headed the van quietly toward Kaiser Hospital on El Camino Real.

"She might have had an allergic reaction," he added in support of his theory that all calls are emergencies, until proven otherwise.

The incident made good small talk at the hospital, where John and Joe, ala Gage and DeSoto of TV's "Emergency" fame, chatted with some members of the hospital staff, for whom they had much praise.

"JOE JUMPED out of that door like someone had dropped a hand grenade," laughed John, slapping his companion on the back. "Do you watch Emergency?" He asked this reporter, "She's Dixie," he said, as my formal introduction to Kaiser's Emergency Room Supervisor Carol A. Cody.

John spent a few minutes explaining to Dr. Frank Shallenberger the difference between a pumper and a regular ladder truck. "The big yellow banana has the ladder," he said.

As the paramedics were walking out the door, an orderly promised them a batch of his barbecue sauce, apparently one of the fringe benefits of the job.

Another is a five per cent increase in pay, above their regular fireman salary. This is justified by their intensive training, increased responsibilities and the dual role they perform.

"I WOULD gladly give some one seven-and-a-half per cent to do the paperwork involved," said John. "That paperwork will kill you," agreed Joe. "It takes longer than a call." He drove toward the station, and the inevitable paperwork.

Our job is not finished until the paperwork is done," said John.

SSF Woman Hits Assailant

A 56-year-old South San Francisco mother rescued her husband and son from an armed assailant in front of her A Street home last week by cracking the assailant over the head with a cast iron frying pan.

According to police, at about 9:30 p.m. a man in his late 20s walked to the front door of the home of Noel Ottinger, 19, of 337 A St., and, holding a sawed-off shot gun in one hand and a knife in the other, attempted to rob Ottinger.

Ottinger, police said, tried to wrestle the gun and knife from the man, and the ensuing noise roused Noel's parents, William and Cheri Ottinger, who reside in an apartment above him.

Police said William, 57, attempted to help his son subdue the assailant, while the mother ran to get a frying pan.

The mother was able to immobilize the suspect by hitting him over the head, but not before her husband and son sustained minor stab wounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Ottinger were treated for wounds at the scene by South San Francisco paramedics. Noel was treated at Kaiser Hospital and released.

The suspect, who refused to give police his name, was booked as a John Doe, and charged with armed robbery, assault with a deadly weapon and possession of a prohibited weapon.

He was taken to Chope Community Hospital for treatment of head injuries.

Police have established no motive for the robbery.

How Assessment Appeals Board Operates

By DUANE SANDL

Every Friday morning three men act as judge and jury to determine whether your property assessment was proper or should be reduced.

It's called the San Mateo County Assessment Appeals Board, which meets at the Hall of Justice in Redwood City.

If you believe the assessor was wrong, and you are right, this is the body before which to present evidence.

The Post took a look at the proceeding Friday and spoke with three of the board members (there are two alternates who sit when a regular cannot).

Present reassessments have caused a stir among thousands of Peninsula, and resulted in formation of several taxpayer groups throughout San Mateo County.

The procedure for appealing your reassessment is simple. Between July 2 and Sept. 15, obtain an application form from Mrs. Eunice Brecht in the supervisors' office. Appeals are heard weekly.

"We're a hearing body, whose function is to determine a difference of opinion of market value between the assessor and the property owner," explained Perry A. Bygones one of two charter members of the board. It was created eight years ago, and law dictates that members be appointed by the Board of Supervisors.

The term "market value" is important for in many instances, property owners have based an appeal on high taxes. And while taxes are determined by the assessed valuation of a home, the Assessment Appeal Board is only interested in evidence concerning market or "cash" value, phrases which have interchangeable meaning.

What should a person bring with him in terms of evidence?

"They should be equipped with comparable value," said board alternate Robert Price, a San Bruno real estate broker and appraiser.

"We recognize personal opinion of value, depending on one's qualifications," added Bygones, a retired real estate broker, banker.

Mel Massolo, a Millbrae real estate broker and board member, suggested that a competent appraisal by someone recognized as an expert in market values is most helpful.

The best evidence, however, is a recent sale of a home or piece of property in your neighborhood comparable to your home or property. "It's hard to refute if a house in your area has sold for a certain price—that's comparable evidence," said Massolo, who chairs the board.

The setting of the hearings, although more relaxed than judicial proceedings, are presented much like court cases.

The appraiser for the county and the applicant each are allowed to present evidence, question one another and present witnesses.

Thomas Casew III, a deputy district attorney, represents the appraiser. Those appealing do not need representation unless they so choose.

"I feel sorry for the homeowner who cannot afford an attorney and has to present the evidence himself," Bygones said. "That's why we have to be broad in our thinking and accept statements which often aren't accepted in a court of law."

The three members interviewed by The Post noted that often they are regarded as the enemy by the appellant.

"Unfortunately, many people believe we are part of

Pacifica Retains Hope of Development Grant

A $414,968 federal Housing and Urban Development grant to the City of Pacifica isn't dead yet, despite the city's application being turned down March 21 because of a miscalculation by HUD officials of available funds.

Congressman Leo J. Ryan, D-San Mateo, said last week he has co-sponsored emergency legislation appropriating $500 million in additional funds for community development by cities such as Pacifica who were cut out of the HUD program in March when money ran out.

Pacifica was one of the smaller cities on the list, and the bigger cities got most of the money; the first time around Pacifica Director of Community Development Lester Clark said.

Ryan said there was a "strong possibility" of the money being granted this year. But Clark said Tuesday the bill, by Congressman Bernie Sisk, D-Fresno, probably would be vetoed by President Ford and Congress would have to override it.

There are 16 co-sponsors from all over the country, indicating wide support. "We've been told we'll have some idea of the bill's chances by mid or late June," Clark said.

City Planner Roy Nourse described the Housing and Community Development Act grant as a three-section program.

First, it would provide housing program development services, including an updated census, analysis of public works improvements, minimum housing rehabilitation standards, a housing assistance program including loan and grant options and a two-year schedule of program activities.

A housing inspector, rehabilitation specialist and secretary would be hired. As with a social services specialist and citizen participation coordinator also funded in the program, however, they would be on the payroll only as long as the federal money lasted and wouldn't be kept on the permanent city payroll, Nourse said.

The second part of the program would be a city service delivery system study — "to see how we're doing with what we have," Nourse said.

The social services specialist also would be a housing counselor. There would be money for consulting services for a housing impact study with the census, a management plan for the community, evaluation of city-wide planning and budget procedures and an annual city assessment and evaluation program.

Services, the third segment, would include a senior citizens facility, a child care program impact and development study and public walkways to the beaches.

the assessor's office, and we're not — we represent the people," said Bygones.

"They cannot go to court without first going through us," added Massolo. Assessment Appeal Board decisions are binding, and can be challenged only by lawsuit before the Superior Court.

Of the 229 actual cases heard by the board between Oct. 1, 1974, and May 13, the assessor was upheld 132 times while the property owner won a reduced assessment 97 times, according to Mrs. Brecht.

Another 317 cases resulted in a stipulation by the assessor and appellant before the scheduled hearing. Another 66 appeals were withdrawn while 48 were denied because the protester failed to appear.

"People coming before us are disturbed," said Bygones. "And a lot of appeals are based on economic hardship, and we cannot consider that."

Continuing, he said, "Another big problem is that people don't understand how values are figured. Unfortunately, because there are 217,000 parcels in San Mateo County which should be reassessed every year — but are not because of the lack of staff — reassessments are every three to four years, which accounts for the huge reassessments."

The other regular board member is charter appointee William Feeney, an appraiser for an insurance company. The second alternate is James Fitzgerald, a retired vice president of Wells Fargo Bank.

Spin Casting Practice Set In Daly City

County Transit Eyes Hiring General Manager

A proposal that a general manager be recruited at a salary of between $38,000 and $45,000 a year for the San Mateo County Transit District was placed before district directors Wednesday night.

Supervisor William H. Royer, chairman of the board of directors' personnel committee, said in making the recommendation that the committee was not then requesting action was but asking that the proposal be placed before directors at their next meeting, May 28.

Director Paul Cowgill asked if the manager should be retained on a contract basis or as an employee of the district.

Aubrey M. Lumley, acting as chairman of the meeting, ruled the question could be answered at the next meeting.

In a covering letter to the board, Royer said the proposed broad salary range would allow the board flexibility in negotiating the starting salary, would provide additional money if necessary for a fringe benefit package and would allow the board to make an offer to the best qualified candidate.

The personnel committee recommended that a nationwide, 30-day recruitment plan be undertaken which would include placing ads in national publications and various transit publications and contacting transportation firms.

The committee would review the resumes of the 20 most qualified applicants, and the board would screen the top 10 to 13 applicants. A "blue ribbon panel" would review the 10 most qualified candidates, and the board would select a general manager to start employment on Sept. 1.

The personnel committee also submitted a recommendation for action at the May 28 meeting that an outside legal counsel be retained for the district, as the district attorney's office already is overloaded and cannot continue to act as attorney for the district without help.

San Bruno received a green light to go ahead with establishment of its own municipal transit system after John J. Mulqueeny, assistant to the city manager, appeared to tell the board the city is "a pocket which won't be able to provide transit service," while its neighbors do.

Despite criticism from Director C. Robert Payne for San Bruno's failure to act previously, the board agreed to transfer operating funds to the city's capital account to allow it to purchase five buses.

Representatives of Parsons, Brinckerhoff, Quade & Douglas of San Francisco completed presentation of a countywide transit system. It includes express routes on the Bayshore Freeway and Interstate 280, a local line along El Camino Real and feeder lines in each city from Menlo Park to Daly City.

Peter Martin, project manager, said fares will be 25-cents for adults and students on local lines, 15-cents for seniors, and no fares for children under five.

On express lines, the fares will be from 30-cents to $1.25 for adults and students, 25-cents for seniors and free rides for children under 5.

He suggested a "monthly fast pass," such as used in San Francisco for $11 a month be considered, and that senior citizens be allowed to ride for 10-cents during non-peak areas.

Two storage and maintenance yards were recommended. One, on Holly Street north of the San Carlos airport, would be the main yard and contain administrative headquarters, while the second, smaller yard would be developed in Daly City — either near Thornton Beach or near Mission Street.

Although the $27 million system is expected to operate at a $22 million deficit over the first five years, John R. Guilhamet, senior civil engineer of the transportation planning division of the County Engineering and Road Department, outlined a series of other possible sources of revenue.

These include:

- Revenue from advertising.
- A property tax of 10-cents which would generate $30 million a year.
- A sales and use tax, including gasoline taxes, which could raise $5 million annually.
- A half-cent sales tax which could raise $10 million annually.

Grants, gifts or loans, including funds from the general funds of cities.

Franklin's Foto Folio Planned

A film festival called "Franklin's Foto Folio" will be presented June 10 at 7:10 p.m. at Benjamin Franklin Intermediate School, 700 Stewart Ave.

It is a photographic phenomenon of photography exhibition, equipment demonstration, "see yourself on TV," cartoon animation, photography from 35 mm camera.

There are two classes offered in photography, with 50 eighth graders learning the whole media. Next year they plan to expand to three classes to include the seventh graders. The public is invited to see the works of these students.

Donation is $1 adults, 50 cents students and free for younger children.

Refreshment will be served.

Providing service to school districts. Funds from Federal Aid Urban funds, which are now allocated to road construction in the county.

Issuance of revenue bonds. General obligation bonds, which would have to be approved by a 60 per cent majority of the people.

Federal highway funds. Guilhamet emphasized, however, the system is designed so it can be operating in the black after five years.

Payne said an application for a Coastside bus system is coming before the board at its May 28 meeting, and suggested the staff begin a study now.

Polaroid SX-70 Model 3. Now Polaroid introduces its newest SX-70 instant camera at about half the price of the original SX-70. Instead of a brushed chrome finish and leather body, Model 3 has a black plastic finish trimmed in brown leather-like Porvair. And it has a different viewing system (You don't focus through the lens. You set the approximate distance).

But all the other history-making features of the SX-70 are still there. You set the camera, press a button and a startlingly beautiful picture develops before your eyes without mess, fuss or anything to throw away.

HIGHEST POLICE HONORS

Colma City policeman Joseph Tognetti received highest police honor recently. Tognetti received Highest Scholastic Achievement from the International Association of Footprinters; Most Outstanding Cadet award from the Peninsula Peace Officers Association; and, was named Outstanding Officer by the Peninsula Peace

LSSD Trustees Vote to Expand Vallemar Program

Enthusiastic parents involved in Vallemar School's Alternative Program convinced the Laguna Salada Union School District Board of Trustees Thursday to expand the program to include a six/seventh grade class.

The program, which essentially is an open classroom, now involves 117 students in grades kindergarten through five, four teachers and 12 parents.

The children have averaged 10 field trips per year and are involved in a variety of activities outside the classroom, including the 4-H Club, cooking groups and gardening.

Some board members wondered if children leaving the program might find it difficult to adjust to the traditional classroom environment and the outside world. "When they get back into the real world, they won't be filling out 'alternative' job applications," said Trustee Lee Riewerts.

Marilyn Stark, a parent involved in the program said the children have learned to accept more responsibility than children in traditional classrooms.

Another parent pointed out that these children have learned to fill out income tax forms and shouldn't have any trouble with job applications.

"People should be able to get the knowledge, skills and education they want on their own volition," said Trustee Grady Hesiers. "And one of the program's objectives is to help the child learn self-direction."

Although the board finally voted to expand the program to include a sixth/seventh grade class, the problem still remained of where to house the program.

Parents involved in the program wish to keep all the children in one school.

If housing is not available for expansion at Vallemar, Sharp Park and Cabrillo Schools may be considered as new locations for the program.

The board also discussed a proposal to develop Pitto Ranch, 30 acres of district-owned land near Montara Mountain.

The school district had asked the state for $37,675 to develop the ranch into a Center of the Study of Man and His Environment but may not receive the money.

The University of San Francisco has offered to help raise money for the project if state funding is denied.

Plans are to develop a day camp and hiking, backpacking and gardening programs. The 4-H Club also would like to use part of the land as a farm where children can learn to raise animals.

South San Francisco List of Drive-in 'Musts'

The South San Francisco Planning Commission told Nate Blumenfeld, owner of the El Rancho Drive-In Theater on Hickey Boulevard, that he must make various improvements to the theater grounds within 30 days or face revocation of his operating permit.

Blumenfeld must:

- ✓Paint and maintain all above ground structures.
- ✓Weed and maintain all existing landscaping and slopes.
- ✓Landscape and maintain all slope areas.
- ✓Clear and maintain all existing drainage ditches around the property.
- ✓Repair, maintain and install walls and fences.
- ✓Install a board on board fence adjacent to the driveway entering the property.
- ✓Install speed bumps in the entrance and exit drive-ways.

Blumenfeld's lawyer said the painting job already has begun and will be completed within 30 days. He also said that Blumenfeld has made an effort to keep the drains clear of debris, but such maintenance is a never-ending job. He said property owners are responsible for a large portion of the debris.

The only condition that remains to be complained about is that there may be debris and there may be weeds on the slopes," Blumenfeld's lawyer said. "There was a lot of rain in April and weeds grow very fast."

Joe Mitchell, who lives on Kipling Avenue near the theater, said a 40-foot slide and 2x12 boards are causing a safety hazard on the north slope.

"I know of two children who were hurt playing on the slide," he said.

Blumenfeld said the slide was put in many years ago to carry water over the ditch and prevent erosion.

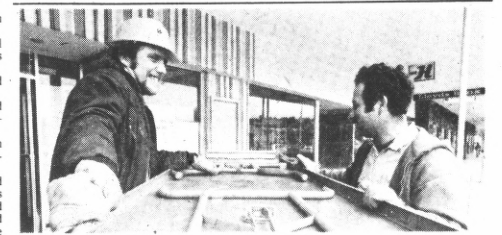

"I think too much is being piled on us," said Blumenfeld. "Debris is thrown over the fences from the houses. We have more problems with the kids breaking fences and jumping over fences to get into the drive-in."

The commission voted to give Blumenfeld a 30-day extension to meet the specified conditions. Commissioners Eugene Mullin and Wesley Slade cast the only dissenting votes.

The commissioners will meet at the El Rancho Drive-In at 6:30 p.m. June 17 to inspect the site and determine whether Blumenfeld has met all requirements.

In other action, the commission unanimously elected Homer Hale new chairman and Wesley Slade vice chairman.

Mrs. Takata Opens Minds of 'Reiki'

By VERA GRAHAM

Reiki? What is Reiki? Mrs. Hawayo (which means Hawaii) Takata, 74, of Hawaii, the master of Reiki explains, "Reiki means Universal Life Energy." It is not a religion. She adds, "It was explained to me this way: 'Here is the great space which surrounds us—the Universe. There is endless and enormous energy. It is universal. Its ultimate source is the Creator. It can stem from the sun, or moon or stars, that science cannot prove or tell us yet. It is a limitless force. It is the source of energy that makes the plants grow... the birds fly."

"When a human being has pain, problems, he or she can draw from it. It is an ethereal source, a wave length of great power which can revitalize, restore harmony..."

Mrs. Takata adds in her words, "It is Nature. It is God, the power he makes available to his children who seek it. In Japanese this is Reiki" (Pronounced Ray-Ke).

Skeptics may quit now. It is interesting to note, however, that Mrs. Takata points out the American Medical Association of Hawaii permits Reiki treatments in hospitals, whenever requested by a patient.

Mrs. Takata will teach Reiki at the University of Hawaii this winter for which she has a signed contract. She is living proof that something is very right. At age 74 she plays nine holes of golf daily when at home and participates in 18-hole tournaments.

She is tiny—and mighty, projecting tranquility, and quiet strength and power.

She was not always so. Mrs. Takata recalls when she was 29 her husband died. She was left penniless with two small daughters to rear.

"They alone kept me from suicide," she recalls. "I would look at their small faces as they slept peacefully. I knew I could not do that to them. I was their mother and their father."

"By the time I was 35, I had all kinds of ailments, appendicitis, a benign tumor, gallstones, and to top it, I had asthma, so could not undergo an operation requiring anesthesia."

"I went down to 97 pounds. Over a period of seven years I was further emotionally devastated. One dear member of my family died each year."

"I was a church-going woman and have always believed in God. One day I meditated and finally said, 'God, I am up against the wall... Help me,' I said to myself. 'If God hears, He will help.' As far as I am concerned that is what happened."

"I heard a voice. Today we call that clairaudience. I didn't know anything about that in 1935. I heard a voice speak after I complained so bitterly. I felt all alone in the world, if I alone had all the suffering, burdens, poverty. I had said, 'Why am I poor? Why do I have such illness... pain? Why do I have all the sorrows?'"

"The voice which replied was loud and clear. It spoke three times. It said, 'No. 1—Get rid of all your illness. Just like that you will find health, happiness and security.'"

"I couldn't believe my ears until I heard the same message three times."

"Within 21 days I was on a boat to Tokyo, hoping to find help there. I went to the Maeda Orthopedic Hospital in the district of Akasaka in Tokyo. That is the finest district in the heart of Tokyo near the Royal Palace. The hospital was named after my friend, Dr. T. Maeda whom I went to see."

Mrs. Takata says that when Dr. Maeda saw her, she had gone down to 97 pounds. He shook his head and said she would have to build up her strength before any thought of surgery.

She and her two small daughters stayed at the hospital.

Before continuing with her story, Mrs. Takata explains that Reiki is spoken of in the ancient history of Japan, and The Buddhist Sutras, the sacred writings, refer to it. Reiki goes back at least 2,500 years. Its mystery, Mrs. Takata says, was unraveled by Dr. Mikao Usui in the late 18th century.

After 21 days in the hospital, Mrs. Takata was ready for surgery. She was on the operating table, she recalls, being prepared, when suddenly she again heard the commanding voice.

"Do not have the operation. It is not necessary," Mrs. Takata said she pitched herself to make sure she was both conscious and sane. Thrice she heard the admonition, and suddenly got off the operating table and stood on the floor, causing endless consternation among the nurses.

Dr. Maeda came in to inquire. She told him she was not afraid of dying but wanted to know if there was any other form of treatment. Dr. Maeda asked how long she would stay in Japan, when she answered two years, he told the nurse to dress her and to call his sister, Mrs. Shimura, then the hospital dietician.

Mrs. Takata later learned Mrs. Shimura some years previously had been in a coma, dying of dysentery, when a schoolmate of her daughter pleaded with her to seek help for her mother of the Reiki master, Dr. Chijuro Hyashi. She did so, and to everyone's amazement, Mrs. Shimura came out of the coma and began to recover.

Mrs. Shimura took her to Dr. Hyashi's offices. "Two of his practitioners worked on me," she recalls. "One on the eyes, head, sinus, the thyroid, thymus glands; the other on the rest of the body. I can best describe it as it is referred to in the Bible, the 'laying on the hands.' The Maeda Hospital had not yet forwarded my medical history, yet they diagnosed my illnesses perfectly."

On my third treatment, my curiosity became boundless. I didn't know what to think. I was obviously improving. I was still at the Maeda Hospital where they checked and confirmed by progress."

"I am a very curious woman. I said to myself, 'I am going to investigate how they are doing this. What makes me feel first the warmth than actual heat emanating from their hands? I looked under the table, at the ceiling everywhere. I could find no cords or instruments. Then I thought, 'Aha, they have a battery hidden in their sleeves.' Dr. Hyashi's assistants wore the Japanese kimono with the long sleeves which hold pockets. They worked so silently. There was no talking."

"My moment came. When I was being treated I suddenly grabbed the practitioner by the pocket."

He was startled, but thinking I needed some Kleenex thoughtfully handed me some. I said, 'No, I want to see the machine in your pocket.' He burst into uncontrolled laughter. Dr. Hyashi came on to see what the commotion was about and was told.

He smiled and shook his head. "Mrs. Takata recalls. He proceeded to give her the explanation of a Universal Life Force. He said, 'Whenever you feel the contact, all I know is that I have reached this great Universal Life Force, and it comes through me to you—these' he held up his hands, 'are the electrodes. That force begins to revitalize and restore the balance of your entire system.'"

Mrs. Takata nodded, yes, in answer to a query. "Reiki can help a person who is sincere in a desire to stop drinking, to excessively smoking, to lose or gain weight, establish a normal balance of good health."

In time, Mrs. Takata became convinced she, too, should learn more and became a student of Dr. Hyashi's. She spent months and was sent into the field to help others. Unbeknownst to her they made full reports back to Dr. Hyashi. "I passed my examinations perfectly."

"I speak with confidence about this," Mrs. Takata notes, "but it should be understood I do not speak as 'I... I... I' speak because it is of God's power. He is the one who makes it available to us. Who doubts God?..."

Mrs. Takata is the only teacher of the Usui system of Reiki in the world today and is recognized as its master.

She is giving classes at the home of Mrs. Beth Gray in Woodside, at 227 Highland Terrace. Mrs. Gray is in charge of the Trinity Metaphysical Center at 140 Clinton St. in Redwood City.

Chicanos Win Vote

The lengthy effort of the county's Chicano residents to win equal status as a full-fledged unit of the Economic Opportunity Commission was won by an 8 to 6 vote of the EOC Thursday night in Redwood City.

The Bilingual Planning Unit of the commission has been seeking equal status with other units for over one year, claiming that the equality is deserved since more than 12 per cent of the county's population is of Spanish surname.

Originally, the Bilingual Planning Unit was placed under the Planning, Research and Development Unit, but was withdrawn and placed under the Central Information Unit. That was defeated by an 8 to 6 vote. The motion to give the unit full status passed by the same vote.

All seven Chicano organizations in the county contacted by proponents of the full status move endorsed the effort, it was reported. In another action, the commission voted to apply for $92,744 in federal grant funds for the Mexican American Unity Council advocacy program for low income Spanish-speaking persons through the Family Service Agency.

One speaker, Ernest Reyes, said approval of the funding would provide an opportunity to improve the living conditions of the Latin-American community.

"Our enemy is poverty," Reyes asserted. "It is hiding in the Latin-American community."

In other actions, the commission:

Approved a $206,818 for the Summer Youth Program which will continue for 10 weeks in the county's seven low-income target areas.

Approved an $18,862 allocation to set up a lunch program in South San Francisco which will feed 100 senior citizens each day, five days a week, at St. Paul's United Methodist Church. Similar lunch programs are scheduled to begin early next year in Half Moon Bay and Pacifica.

Transportation Bill Approved In Committee

Legislation aimed at developing public transportation alternatives along the San Francisco Peninsula passed out of the Assembly Transportation Committee May 14.

AB 1754, authored by Assembly Speaker Pro Tempore Louis J. Papan (D-San Mateo County), would authorize a comprehensive West Bay Corridor study.

This measure would expedite the development of transportation alternatives," Papan said. "Until this project is completed, a regional transportation approach is stalled."

AB 1754 would authorize a $350,000 appropriation from the Transportation Research and Plan fund. The Metropolitan Transportation Commission would be responsible for conducting the study and reporting back to the Legislature by January, 1977.

The bill will be heard this week in the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

Board Meets

The San Mateo County Alcoholism Advisory Board will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at Peninsula Hospital in Burlingame.

A budget crisis report and memo for the fiscal year of 1975-76 is on the agenda as a major item.

NELL

Good morning, good cooks.

June is the month for all sorts of fancy doings: graduations, bridal showers and just plain old get-togethers call for some home made goodies. The cakes featured today are certainly different in type and in method of preparation, but equally delicious.

We'll start off with the easier of the two, a beautiful cake made from a mix with instant pudding and chocolate sauce added for pizzazz.

LINDA'S CHOCOLATE PISTACHIO BUNDT CAKE
1 package white cake mix
1 package Royal Pistachio Instant Pudding Mix
4 eggs
1/2 cup salad oil
1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 cup water

To be added later:
1 small can (5 1/2 ounces) chocolate syrup
In large mixing bowl combine the white cake mix, one package instant pudding, four eggs, one-half cup each salad oil, orange juice and water. Mix at a low speed until well blended and then beat for 4 minutes at medium speed. Pour about two-thirds of the mixture into a well greased and floured bundt pan. To the remaining one-third batter add the five and one-half ounces chocolate syrup. Mix well and pour over batter in pan.

Bake in 350-degree oven for 50 to 60 minutes or until cake tests done. Cool in pan on rack for 10 minutes, then turn out and cool completely on rack. Sprinkle with powdered sugar if desired.

PHYLLIS' FIG CAKE

28 figs
1 cup water
Boil the 28 figs in the one cup water for 5 minutes. Cool and drain, reserve juice. (If necessary, add water to make three-fourths cup liquid) and chop figs.

1 cup sugar
1 cube butter
3 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon baking soda

Cream the one cup sugar and one cube butter. Add the three eggs yolks, one teaspoon vanilla, chopped figs and three-fourths cup fig juice (to which one-fourth teaspoon baking soda has been added).

1 1/2 cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
2 tablespoons cocoa
1 cup chopped nuts

Sift together the one and one-half cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder and two tablespoons cocoa. Add to creamed mixture. Then add one cup chopped nuts.

Beat the three egg whites until stiff and fold into creamed mixture. Spoon into greased and floured tube pan. Bake in 350-degree oven for 35 to 40 minutes. Cool for 10 minutes in pan and turn out to cool completely. Sift powdered sugar over top.

15 Area Students Win BofA Prizes

Michele Collopy of Burlingame High School is one of four Bay Area seniors who captured first-place awards last week in Bank of America's 1975 Achievement Awards competition.

At a banquet at the San Francisco Hilton May 8, Miss Collopy was presented a check for $1,000 for her top showing in the fine arts competition.

The West Bay winners were among 30 finalists who competed for a total of $14,000 in cash prizes in recognition of their outstanding scholarship and community service records, a B of A spokesman pointed out.

More than 90 high schools from San Francisco, San Mateo, Santa Clara, Sonoma and Marin Counties competed in the West Bay program. Similar competitions were held in Sacramento, Oakland, Fresno and Monterey.

Two local students were among the four second-place winners who received $750 prizes each. They are Susan Urte of Half Moon Bay High, vocational arts, and Susan High, South San Francisco, liberal arts.

Earning third place and $500 each among local competitors were: Randall Albin, Henry M. Gunn Senior High, Palo Alto, vocational arts; Zeljko Ivankic, Elwood P. Cubberley Senior High, Palo Alto, fine arts; Karen Mulvany, San Mateo High, science and mathematics; and Easter Miller, San Mateo High, liberal arts.

Among the 18 runners-up, each receiving $250, were: Lynn Arvidson, Jefferson High, Daly City; Margie Gorang, Hillside High, San Mateo; Judith Jansen, Menlo-Atherton High, Lodi; Kaplan, Serramonte High, Daly City; Mark de Lemos, Henry M. Gunn; James Schrempf, Terra Nova High, Pacifica; John Snyder, Woodside Priory School, Portola Valley, and Cynthia Lesser, San Carlos High.

CHILD CARE
Daly City Mayor Victor Kyriakis signs proclamation designating the week of May 25 as Pro-Child Care Week in Daly City. Standing with the mayor are (from left) Rhina Gonzales, Juan Escobar, Terri Gezik and Marilyn Vall of the Daly City Community for Children's Services.

Child Care Week Proclaimed

The Daly City Community for Children's Services is a nonprofit organization dedicated to the development and welfare of the young of Daly City.

To reach its goal, all-day, low-cost care for children is necessary. The organization needs cooperation of residents to make day care a reality in Daly City.

The organization requests of every resident support. It is planning a city-wide fund-raising event which will provide the Daly City Community for Children's Services with enough petty cash for supplies until allocated monies arrive.

The first fund-raising activity will be a "rummage sale" and the committee is asking residents to save clean, usable discards for donations.

The organization needs vehicles and manpower to transport items that are donated.

The Daly City Fire Department has donated storage space for items to be sold at the rummage sale at its Fire Station No. 5, located at Lincoln Way and Edgemont Ave. Contributions may be dropped off there.

Contact Mrs. Rhina Gonzales or Ms. Terri Gezik at 992-3581 for details.

Boy Scout Events Scheduled for N. County

The Serra Boy Scout District Annual Dinner will be held 7:30 p.m. May 31 at St. Anne's Church.

The dinner has a Western Fiesta theme. Al Belozit will serve as host for the program which will include the presentation of District Award of Merit, Training Awards, Woodbadge Awards and recognition of Cub and Scout Leaders in the District. Reservations can be made through the Scout Service Center at 369 Pine St., San Francisco 94104.

Steve Charchan, an Eagle Scout, is serving as scoutmaster of Troop 347, which recently became active again at Our Lady of Mercy.

Due to the tremendous response to Cub Day Camp, the program has been expanded to the four weeks in July. For $5 per week, any Cub can attend the camp, located in the picnic area behind the Zoo, and be able to work on Cub advancement.

Volunteers are needed to help run the camp this summer. Junior staff, scouts who have some cub experience and interested adults should contact council office. Applications should be turned in as soon as possible for any camp session.

"House of Ideas"

"The House of Ideas" is a do-it-yourself book with step by step instructions for hundreds of ways to improve your home. So here's the book for you if you need more storage space or an alteration in the kitchen or some other room.

The author, Bill Baker, divides his book into 14 sections, each dealing with a specific part of the house. Section one is about entrances and staircases. Section five has to do with master bedrooms, section 12 with bars and section 11 with family-living and entertainment.

In section three there are some novel ideas for emergency sleeping for guests. Here the folding bed is introduced as a low cost and space saving way to care for guests. From the folding bed, Baker lists instructions for making a fold-away guest room which is equipped with shelves and headboards as well as bed.

Chapter 10 tells how to make sewing centers, either permanent or portable, and how to build and equip a sewing room that is much larger than a center. Here the author suggests that sewing rooms can be fit into a basement area or into closets, even into corners. Baker illustrates how sliding sewing machine cabinets can be constructed to serve many purposes besides housing the sewing machine.

The second half of chapter 10 contains ideas for hobby workshops. Illustrative of such ideas is a father-son workshop, and basement shop that features fixtures designed to hold certain tools.

To "The House of Ideas," Bill Baker brings "a world" of experience as a craftsman and an author. Among the rooms that he has created are some in the Pentagon in Washington, D.C., and some in the White House. Among his books, "Furniture You Can Make" and "Built-ins and Space Savers," are widely acclaimed. Surely "The House of Ideas" will enhance his reputation as a man whose precepts make a house become a home.

Writing from a different point of view, H. Peter Loefer tells how to do wonders for your home with indoor plants.

He writes of the importance of plants saying, "In a world that daily flirts with disaster, continually teetering on the brink of hysteria... it is very easy to lose your orientation. But when you think of the last time you saw a violet in spring, an apple tree weighted with blossoms, or the annual display of an African Marulius, once again you can sense the true passage of time."

From this viewpoint he tells how to bring flowers and ferns into your home so their influence can be felt. Ever grow a Wandering Jew in your home, or a Grape Ivy, or a Queen's Tears or an Orchid Cactus? Loefer in his "Bringing the Outdoors In" tells you how.

Particularly valuable are his chapters on imaginative containers, easy-to-build window greenhouses, movable planters and trellises. In chapter 15 he describes the ailments that beset plants and even pictures mites and insects that destroy man's most friendly plants. In chapter 11 Loefer writes of wildflowers that become house plants.

"The House of Ideas In" is surely a significant book.

Local Students Win Journalism Honors

Students from San Mateo public and parochial high schools received prizes for their entries in the 20th Annual Economic Discussion and 13th Annual Journalism competitions sponsored by the Invest-In-America Northern California Council, Inc. on the subject of "Jobs, Paychecks, Employment."

The winners were announced and prizes presented by Albert E. Stevens, vice president, Standard Oil Company of California, at a special luncheon held in cooperation with the San Mateo County Development Association.

The Grand Prize winner for the best entry in the economic discussion program was a 17-year-old senior from Terra Nova High School, Pacifica, Diane Durkin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Durkin, 1309 Lerida Way, Pacifica. Her prize was two shares of common stock of Standard Oil Company of California purchased on the open market by the Invest-In-America Council.

The second overall prize winner was a 17-year-old senior from Sequoia High School, Redwood City, Kevin C. Clancy, son of Meridith Murphy, 560 Charter Street, Redwood City. His prize consisted of one share of common stock of Crown Zellerbach Corporation.

Third prize, which consisted of one share of common stock of Southern Pacific Company, was awarded to Frank Edson, 17-year-old senior from South San Francisco High School, son of Mrs. Maryann Hoffer, 312 El Cortez Drive, South San Francisco.

In addition to the three overall prizes, awards were presented to the students who submitted the best entries from each school participating. The individual winners were:

- Carleton High School, Belmont: Diane Gentry.
- Pacific High School, Pacifica: Julie Stephens.
- Sequoia High School, Redwood City: John M. Gutierrez.
- Terra Nova High School, Pacifica: Loretta Vasser.
- Woodside Priory, Portola Valley: Simon C. Miles.
- Del Monte Corporation.

Judges for the San Mateo County entries were Henry Bostwick, Jr., executive vice president and general manager, San Mateo County Development Association; William J. Hammer, district marketing supervisor, Pacific Gas & Electric Company; San Mateo; Leigh Hodgdon, Dean Witter & Company; San Mateo; Peter F. Miller, vice president and manager, Hibernia Bank, San Mateo; and Michael M. Murphy, director, public affairs, Hughes Air West, San Mateo.

This economic discussion program is part of a year-round economic education program sponsored by the Invest-In-America Northern California Council, Inc., to bring about a better understanding on the part of the individual how his savings plus business profits invested affect not only his own but the nation's economic growth and future.

IT'S YOUR MONEY

Q. I will be eligible for Medicare soon. I know that Medicare helps pay many medical expenses, but what are some of the things it doesn't cover?

A. Medicare does not cover preventive medicine, such as routine physical exams. Other non-covered items include prescription drugs and other medicines you buy yourself, eye and hearing examinations, eye glasses, dentures, or routine dental work. Medicare also does not cover custodial care such as help in dressing, bathing and caring for other personal needs. Your Medicare Handbook which will be mailed to you, lists non-covered items and services.

Answers provided by Miss Margaret Tang, Manager Social Security Office. QUESTIONS INVITED TO: Chapel of the Highlands Funeral Home, El Camino at Millwood, Millbrae 588-5116.

County Crop Output Climbs

The total gross value of agricultural products in San Mateo County amounted to $44 million for 1974, exceeding the 1973 total by nearly $2 million, County Agricultural Commissioner Claude W. Bridges notes in his annual agricultural crop report.

There were a total of eight "million dollar" crops in the county, Bridges reports, with the largest gross being recorded in pot plants — $10.8 million, up $1.1 million over 1973.

Bridges emphasizes that all values are gross values and "in no manner reflect the net income to the grower."

Steadily rising production and marketing costs often wipe out profits completely, he notes.

Other million dollar crops for 1974: Ornamental nursery stock, $5.4 million, up $273,000; carnations, $4.4 million, down $328,000; chrysanthemums, $3.4 million, up $297,000; strawflowers, $1.1 million, down $772,000; roses, $1.6 million, down $74,000; brussels sprouts, $2 million, up $580,000; marguerites, $1.5 million, up $100,000.

The total value of vegetable crops in the county amounted to nearly $10 million in 1974, an increase of nearly $1.5 million over the previous year.

The county's biggest vegetable crop, brussels sprouts, totaled just over $2 million in value for 1974, an increase of slightly more than a half-million dollars.

Serra High Mothers Install Officers

Mrs. Thomas Meyersieck of Hillsborough was installed as the 1975-76 president of the Serra Mothers' Auxiliary in the school chapel May 20.

The Rev. Albert Vacinovich presided at the ceremonies. Mrs. James Howell, San Mateo was installing officer.

Other new officers are the Mmes. Vincent Hurley, San Mateo, vice-president; James Hall, San Mateo, recording secretary; James Tschanner, San Bruno, corresponding secretary; and John Cruden, Jr., Hillsborough, treasurer. Mrs. Thomas Hough, retiring president, will serve as parliamentarian.

Mrs. Meyersieck comes to her position after two years as head room mother for the auxiliary which included making arrangements for school receptions which serve up to 1,000 persons four or five times a year.

Two sons attend Serra. Jim, a senior, and Ken, a sophomore. Two older sons are in college and a daughter is in first grade at South Hillsborough School.

Mrs. Meyersieck is a graduate of Washington University, St. Louis. Her other activities this year include posts on the board of directors of the San Francisco Symphony Foundation, secretary to Pi Beta Phi Alumni Club, magazine chairwoman for the American Association of University Women, and assistant foods chairwoman for Concours de Elegance, a project of the Hillsborough school parents group. She is also a member of the Women's Symphony League of the Upper Peninsula.

She belongs to St. Bartholomew's parish, San Mateo, where she was a teacher for the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine. Her favorite relaxation is tennis.

Papan Authors Bill To Acquire Beach

Culminating a series of meetings with representatives of the State Department of Parks and Recreation, legislation authored by Assemblyman Louis J. Papan (D-San Mateo County) to acquire San Pedro Beach in Pacifica May 12 cleared the Assembly Resources and Land Use Committee by a vote of 8-0.

"I am extremely pleased we were able to secure the support of the Department of Parks and Recreation for this important acquisition," stated Papan.

"Herbert Rhodes, the new director of parks and recreation, certainly deserves credit for his assistance in working out an agreement for the funding of this project," Papan said.

As amended, AB 1195 appropriates $250,000 from the Collier Park Preservation Fund and $500,000 Federal Land and Water Fund to match the $250,000 in local funds from San Mateo County. Pacifica officials have agreed to provide the maintenance for the park.

AB 1195 will be reviewed in June by the Assembly Ways and Means Committee. No date has been set for the next hearing.

Bea Friedman Plaque Dedication Planned

Sabbath services will be held at Congregation Enei Israel, 1575 Annie St., Daly City, May 23 at 8:30 p.m. Services will be conducted by Rabbi Ira Book. Highlights of the evening will be the dedication of the Bea Friedman Memorial Plaque and the Bat-Mitzvah anniversary of Karen Friedberg.

The observance of the anniversary of a past

Bar/Bat Mitzvah candidate is a new program instituted by the Congregation. In the case of a boy he will chant his Haftorah, a girl will read from the Psalms. An Oneg Shabbat will follow.

Services will continue on Saturday morning at 10 a.m. with the reading of Naso being the portion of the Bible. Following the services there will be a kiddush served.

Skyline Will Offer Environmental Class

Skyline College's course in Environmental Health Service (Biology 32) has proven to be particularly useful to people working in water pollution control and food processing, according to instructor Christine Case.

Ms. Case is a microbiologist with a certificate in Environmental Impact Reporting and Evaluation.

Biology 32 is a 3 unit course offered on Monday and Wednesday from noon to 1 p.m. with a laboratory by arrangement. There are no prerequisites.

Topics covered include nutrient cycles in ecosystem; water uses in California; wastewater and treatment; eutrophication; public health; food microbiology; agriculture and land use; and energy sources.

Current topics are discussed and misconceptions clarified.

For further information call the Math, Science and Technical Division of Skyline College at 355-7000, extension 222.

Southwood Junior High Banquet Set

The eighth annual Publications Banquet at Southwood Junior High School will be at 6:30 p.m. May 27.

The annual banquet will be held at the New Southern Restaurant and some 130 students, parents, guests and faculty members will attend. The banquet is held each year to honor the individuals who have helped with Southwood's award-winning paper, The Brave, and the equally successful yearbook, The Savage. The annual Publications Award will be presented to an adult from the community who has helped with the publications.

A student of the department who has contributed personal effort towards the success of the publications, above and beyond normal class time will receive the annual Press Award.

The final awards to be presented are those given to the outstanding students on the staffs of The Brave and The Savage.

W. J. Maher, advisor to Southwood's publications, will present the awards. Master of Ceremonies will be Maher.

Dr. Paul Nielsen, superintendent of the South San Francisco Unified School District, will deliver the evening's major address. Dr. Nielsen will address the student journalists and guests on the merits of school publications.

Nick Crusick, co-ordinator of child welfare and attendance for the school district, will offer a few humorous remarks and observations during the evening.

Crusick will be returning to his first banquet since leaving Southwood. He served as assistant principal at Southwood for 10 years.

Choraliers Will Perform in SSF

The South San Francisco Choraliers are rehearsing for their spring concert, "Love in Bloom," which will be presented May 30 at 8:30 p.m. in the auditorium of the Orange Avenue Library.

The concert music from such Broadway shows as "Carousel" and "The Music Man," and movies, "State Fair" and "Romeo and Juliet," and English and Irish folk songs, will all carry the theme of "Love and Springtime."

Soloists will include accompanist Lynn Back performing Sonata Pathétique, Kathy Rodillas, Kay Kaufman, and Doreen Marlow.

President and Director Roy Marlow said the Choraliers are a performing, recreational chorus with membership open to any adult interested in vocal music.

The Choraliers rehearse every Thursday from 8 to 10 p.m. at the St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Miller and Spruce, South San Francisco.

For details call 992-2913.

Volunteer Help in County Is Needed

The following agencies have requested volunteer assistance from the Volunteer Bureau-Voluntary Action Center of San Mateo County with offices in Burlingame and Redwood City.

War Memorial Community Center - Volunteers are wanted to help with child care while the mothers are in a sewing class on Thursday afternoon. About eight or nine children are involved with a separate room with crayons and other toys available for their use. A Spanish-speaking volunteer is helpful, but not necessary.

North County Mental Health - A Spanish-speaking volunteer with an interest in ceramics or other crafts is wanted to work with a group of Spanish-speaking women. The group meets in a well equipped room with a kiln and other equipment.

Service League of San Mateo County - Child care is needed by the Mother's Group, wives of prisoners in the San Bruno Jail. The nursery of the church is available; about 6-10 preschoolers are involved. Volunteers with pre-school children may bring them if they wish. The Mothers' Group is important to the people involved and child care is needed for them to be able to participate.

Family and Child Advisory Council-Dept. of Health and Welfare - Volunteers with administrative skills are wanted to work with the day care, foster homes and adoption program. Volunteers would co-ordinate distribution of materials, work obtaining speaking engagements for the Speakers Bureau and other administrative duties.

Additional information about these and other opportunities may be obtained by contacting the Volunteer Bureau, 119 Primrose Road, Burlingame, phone 342-0801. A project of the Assistance League of San Mateo County, the bureau shares in the United Way of the Bay Area.

Television Age Bias Rapped

Is salty Rolfe Peterson growing old? San Mateo's best-known television personality, now 53, told a crowd of over 400 at the fifth annual Senior Citizens Conference at College of San Mateo Thursday he felt he was in the prime of life despite now being jobless largely because of his age.

County Needs Foster Homes

Foster homes are again being sought for San Mateo County's problem children.

Youngsters who for varying reasons have been removed from their own homes, some 15 or 20 a week, are waiting at Hillcrest Juvenile Hall.

The county's interest is to reduce the time these young people must remain in Hillcrest because they have no place to go. Without foster homes, they might have to stay at Hillcrest for months or years.

From one point of view, these are not "bad" kids who have been sentenced to juvenile hall for terms of punishment.

They are youngsters who have not been able to get along with their parents, often with good reason; youngsters who may have been in trouble (but not serious trouble) with police for stealing, or in trouble with schools for misbehaving or cutting classes.

They frequently are youngsters with records of running away from home.

"Please don't let these problems stop you," says foster home recruiting officer Fred Hanes. "A probation officer will work with you on a plan to help each youth to do his best."

From the possible foster parents' point of view, this may be an opportunity for involvement, a chance to demonstrate responsibility and maturity, a possibility of dealing with young people on a one-to-one basis.

In other terms, it is a challenge not to be taken lightly. Psychiatrists and counselors warn that people who accept the task of raising someone else's problem children should be highly mature and stable.

They point out that youngsters who have established a pattern of running away from problems, may well continue.

A child who has never learned to live with fair and reasonable authority may well challenge every rule, every guideline until he or she knows exactly how far to go.

This deliberate testing can be more of a trial than many people can handle, say the psychiatrists.

Hanes explains that obvious problems are discussed in a preliminary visit between the prospective foster parents, the prospective foster child, and the probation officer.

The parents are told that they will receive a monthly cash allowance to provide support for the foster child, plus an initial clothing allowance. Medical, dental, and counseling services are provided.

Hanes says the county usually to accept only married couples as foster parents, but will now accept single or divorced persons as well.

"We will accept singles if their work schedules and time at home relate to the kids," he said.

Coincident with Hanes' announcement that foster homes are needed, the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors proclaimed May 18 to 24 as "Action for Children Week."

The supervisors pledged that this would begin a isn't unusual in broadcasting these days, but I was also twice as smart," Peterson said to loud laughter.

But the senior citizen is being discriminated against precisely because "This is a time of youth in broadcasting," he went on.

Red Skelton went off the air several seasons ago and Lawrence Welk was dropped by CBS and went to independent syndication despite good ratings just because the demographers — market analysts — found the viewers were over 30 years old. "They don't want you. You don't buy enough," he said.

Peterson suggested keeping a pile of postcards near the TV set and writing short notes expressing likes and dislikes to sponsors — not the networks, but the sponsors, who have the final say because they're paying for it. "Television is rotten because you don't let them know," Peterson said.

A questioner made a three-pronged inquiry about why advertisers "persist in commercials written by refugees from an imbecile's home, making my margarine talk back to me. As for Mrs. Olson, if anyone at Folger's Coffee ever drank a cup of Norwegian coffee they'd dump Mrs. Olson fast. And why do all soap operas have doctors who run around with nurses and other men's wives? Why do they allow that kind of trash on the screen?"

Peterson reiterated his advice about the postcards to advertisers, on either programs or commercials, adding that if soap operas "were true to life it would be very dull. No doctor in real life would keep a mistress unless it was tax deductible."

He observed too that very intelligent people.

Peterson recommended several current movies for older theatergoers, such as "A Brief Vacation," which he called a good story and especially "good armchair travel. You really see Italy."

With admission prices up to $4, however, Peterson suggested checking around for bargain matinees such as at the Fox Redwood City and Hillsdale. Tanforan and Serra cinema complexes.

The day of music, talks and a fashion show was co-sponsored by the CSM Community Services Office, the San Mateo County Senior Forum, the county Parks and Recreation Department and the Associated Students of CSM.

Catholic Charities Ask Support

San Mateo County Catholics joined others in the archdiocese for the annual Catholic Charities Appeal to Sunday.

Monsignor Timothy E. O'Brien, Director of Catholic Charities, said that the funds were needed to help support the comprehensive Archdiocesan program of services that have touched people of all ages and all community levels in the four counties and to continue a sustained thrust into metropolitan and suburban ghettos to help alleviate the problems which burden troubled people and communities.

He emphasized, "It is difficult for one person to do much to alleviate today's vast unhappy conditions but by pooling our resources to help each other much can be done. Catholic Charities is one way through which we can reach out every day to our hurting neighbors."

EOC Funds To County Budget

A $100,000 allocation for the County Economic Opportunity Commission's Summer Youth Program will not have to come from $800,000 in revenue sharing funds the Board of Supervisors has designated for community based social service programs, the board has decided.

The board decided by a 3 to 2 vote last week that the funds will be removed from the social service program allocation and will be considered in connection with the EOC's funding request in the 1975-76 county budget.

Board Chairman James V. Fitzgerald, who wanted the program funding to remain for consideration in the social service fund allotment, and Supervisor William H. Royer opposed the board action.

Tuesday's action resulted from concerns expressed recently by the Rev. Paul Berry, chairman of the Revenue Sharing Advisory Council, that some $261,000 in programs previously financed through the EOC budget had been designated for consideration under the revenue sharing funds for the community based social service programs.

Guilty Verdict In Shooting

A South San Francisco man who shot his wife five times with a .22 caliber rifle last Jan. 1 in their home was found guilty Friday by a Superior Court jury of assault with intent to commit murder, of using a deadly weapon and of using a firearm in commission of the acts.

The verdict was returned against Franklin G. Murray, 46, by a jury of seven men and five women following nine hours of deliberation after a trial before Judge W. Howard Hartley.

The jury rejected the argument of defense attorney William Holmes that Murray, with a blood alcohol content of .22, had a diminished capacity to form intent to commit murder.

Murray was arrested after shooting his wife, Betty, 48, in the upper half of her body. Mrs. Murray, who has since recovered, filed for dissolution of their marriage one month after the shooting and just recently obtained an interlocutory decree.

Judge Hartley scheduled sentencing of Murray, who is in custody in the county jail, for June 6 at 9 a.m.

The case was prosecuted by Deputy Dist. Atty. John O'Leary.

In San Mateo County the Catholic Social Services provides the following professional service: family counseling, marital counseling, pre-marital counseling, individual counseling, parent-child counseling and non-learning problem counseling.

Special Programs include:

- Developmentally Disabled — Funded by contract with the Golden Gate Regional Center, provides supervision and counseling to the developmentally disabled.

hired, mentally retarded and autistic.

- Retired Senior Volunteer Program — A Federally-funded program to serve those seniors who wish to continue their interests and usefulness through volunteer action.

- Handicapped — Offers a socialization program for physically handicapped who are eighteen years of age or older.

- Community Services — A bilingual reach out program to the Latino and Mexican-American community.

Community Organization — Provides expertise to groups on how to plan, organize and fund programs needed in the community.

Offices are at 20 North San Mateo Drive, San Mateo, 6705 Mission St., Daly City and 405 Eighth Ave., Menlo Park.

Pledges and contributions can be mailed to Catholic Charities, 2089A Mission St., San Francisco.

Suicide Prevention Week in County

National Suicide Prevention Week is on now through Saturday and is observed locally by the Suicide Prevention Center of San Mateo County.

But times change and one very noticeable statistic pointed out for this year's observance is a near doubling of the suicide rate among women in the past ten years.

Good suicide statistics are hard to come by because many suicides are reported inaccurately. In California, however, where extensive studies on the subject have been done, the suicide rate for women in ten years far outstripped the increased rate for men. In 1960, suicide was reported in 1,715 California men and 787 women. In 1970, the figure was 2,300 for men while the number for women jumped to 1,444.

While the suicide rate always has been higher among men, the rate for attempts not resulting in deaths has been higher in women. One explanation for this is that the overdose of medication, which is a common suicide method by women, is generally not as lethal as the gunshot or hanging more often selected by men.

Nobody really knows why the suicide rates for men and women have been so different and nobody really knows why the rate has increased so rapidly in women over the past few years. Nancy H. Allen, president of the American Association of Suicidology, has some thoughts on the subject. She believes, for example, that the wider range of freedoms and opportunities for women is an important factor.

"Women are becoming more involved outside the family," she said.

Floral Fiesta

Fair Premium Books Available

San Mateo County residents are encouraged to get their entry forms in early for this year's 41st annual Fair & Floral Fiesta July 28-Aug. 9.

The new premium schedule books are now available and Fair Board President Anthony J. Tarlock reports a total of $93,886 in cash premiums available to exhibitors this year, an increase of more than $30,000 over 1974.

Included among the awards being given for the first time this year is a $50 prize for the most outstanding booth entered by a farm women's or home economics organization. These displays may include a variety of exhibits including canned and preserved foods, clothing, home furnishings, table settings and community improvement.

Another new award will be a $75 special prize given to the best variety feature or special feature exhibit booth. These exhibits show the various agricultural products grown in the County.

According to Bea Karen-gin, fair entry Chief, seven of the nine spots in the Amateur Outdoor Gardens have already been filled. Those entered are: Mrs. J. B. Atkinson, San Mateo; Belmont Women's Club; Garden Study Club of the Peninsula, Hillsborough; Golden Bear Rose Society, Daly City; Pacifica Flower Friends; Shell Cove Garden Club; Foster City and S.E.E.K., San Carlos.

"Because of the increased premiums and new additions offered, we are expecting this year's Fair & Floral Fiesta to be the biggest and best ever," says Tarlock. "Therefore, it is very important for anyone who is considering entering the Fair to pick up a premium schedule book from the Fair Administration Office and check the entry deadlines and qualifications."

Entry deadlines for the 1975 Fair & Floral Fiesta are:

June 6 — Feature Exhibits
June 20 — Educational Exhibits: Amateur Gardens; Professional Floriculture
June 25 — Junior Division, 4-H, FFA and other Juniors
July 7 — Amateur Floriculture, Senior and Junior; Agriculture, Senior Home Economics
Premium schedule books and entry forms for all divisions may be picked up at the Fair Administration Office, 2495 S. Delaware St., San Mateo.

County Republican Group To Hear Labor Leader

Economic growth vs. environmental protection and labor-Republican party relations will be among subjects discussed by labor leader Tom Hunter at the monthly meeting of San Mateo County Republican Central Committee meeting 8 p.m. May 22.

Hunter is business manager of the Plumbers Local Union No. 467 (San Mateo County) and President of the Coalition of Concerned Citizens, a San Mateo County organization of business, labor, and agricultural leaders dedicated to promoting a growth economy and a quality environment.

The labor sub-committee of the Republican Central Committee will present suggestions on how Republicans can establish a dialogue with the labor movement in the county and how to improve lines of communication between Republicans and labor. The suggestions will be presented by Gib Rodli, labor sub-committee chairman, who was Republican candidate for the 19th Assembly seat (northern San Mateo County) in 1974.

Carl Hirsch, Jr., Executive Secretary of the Coalition of Concerned Citizens, will make brief remarks.

The meeting will be held at the West Orange Library (1840 West Orange Avenue) in South San Francisco.

Permit Need Explained

Plagued with a number of complaints about illegal building additions in recent months, Burlingame city officials remind residents that permits are needed for almost every construction.

"When in doubt, get a building permit," said Planning Commission Chairman Thomas Sine. "Whenever you nail two boards together, you probably need a permit."

Planning Director Wayne Swan agreed.

"Building permits are required whenever a home or business is remodeled or repaired.

"The laws of the City of Burlingame contain numerous requirements which should be met, for the safety of buildings and their occupants."

"Failure to follow the building codes could influence your ability to collect insurance, should there be a loss."

"More importantly, incorrect work could endanger your life or your property."

Aviation contributions

The positive aspects of aviation are much more numerous than the negative aspects, according to a report prepared by the planning staff of the Federal Aviation Administration.

Planes are used to benefit mankind in many ways, the report states, such as agriculture, livestock production, forest management, firefighting, forest seeding and fertilizing, insect and disease control in forest areas, logging, game management, transportation of people to wilderness areas without disturbing intervening land, weather control such as cloud seeding, aerial survey, energy source by plane, insect control, the report found that "the capital flow generated by these airports is indeed substantial."

The planners found that "food delivery" was a major function of aviation. "Thanks to the airplane, today's gourmet has a much wider selection of foods than did his predecessor 20 years ago. Fresh foods subject to bruising and spoilage now find their way into markets across the country 24 hours after leaving the fields. A restaurant in North Dakota can serve shrimp fresh from the Gulf-Coast, and a Maine housewife can enjoy Florida strawberries."

Although airports have come under fire in recent years as sources of noise and air pollution, and as congested centers of traffic, the report found that "the capital flow generated by these airports is indeed substantial."

SSF Yoga Class For Over 50's

Yoga instruction for those over 50 is being offered at the South San Francisco Senior Citizens Center, 200 Grand Ave., South San Francisco, with classes beginning June 4 from 10:30 a.m. to noon. Registration before the first class is mandatory.

Registration will be accepted at the center from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. June 21, 23, 24 and 26. Information may be obtained through the South San Francisco Recreation Department.

Development of turbine engines for planes, for example, has led to production of turbine power plants. Many products of turbine techniques now used only in the air and now used freely on the ground.

To a great degree, the fast food enterprises of today have developed from the airlines' need to prepare and store millions of meals until serving them in the air.

"On the whole," the report concluded, "it is difficult to see how one could deny the environmental advantages of aircraft. Harder still it is, to imagine the world without from one field to another."

Aviation contributes greatly, however, to such varied human interests as education, travel, political support, and allowing pollution to be widespread rather than concentrated.

There are equally difficult to measure benefits in technological areas, particularly in the transfer of knowledge from one field to another.

PUBLIC NOTICES

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
NORTH SAN MATEO COUNTY SANITATION DISTRICT

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that pursuant to Section 457.1 of the Health and Safety Code of the State of California, the Board of Directors of the North San Mateo County Sanitation District has, by ordinance, elected to collect its charges for sewerage service for the final year 1975-1976 on the tax roll in the same manner as its general taxes, and has caused to be filed with its Secretary a written report containing a statement of the actual cost of the property receiving sanitary sewerage service from said District and the amount of the charge for each parcel.

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that on Monday, the 2nd day of June, 1975, at the hour of 1:00 o'clock P.M. at the regular meeting place of said District, at the Board of Directors of the North San Mateo County Sanitation District, there will be a public hearing on the proposed rates and charges for sewerage service for the year 1975-1976.

By order of the Board of Directors of the North San Mateo County Sanitation District.

Eight programs have been announced by the San Francisco Art Commission for the annual pops series performed in July by the San Francisco Symphony. The first, "The Astro-Strat," featuring rock guitarist Eric Clapton, will return for his 40th anniversary as leader of the pop concerts.

Concerts at Civic Auditorium begin July 12, with an appearance by the Preservation Hall Jazz Band.

Country music guitarist Bob Atkins will be soloist on July 15, and the illustrious pianist Art Schnitzer is scheduled for July 17.

Spain is the theme of the July 19 program. Ragtime and Irving Berlin tunes will be featured July 22, with the virtuoso pianist Vladimir Ashkenazy.

Swedish pianist Kenneth Sillström will play the "Berg Concerto in A" for "Request Night" on July 24.

The "Music of Rodgers and Hammerstein," including "South Pacific" and "Sound of Music," will be the focus of the July 24 program.

Tickets will go on sale July 19.
